Garrett Coats Of Arms

Burke's General Armory lists two different coats of arms for the Garrett family. Following are descriptions of them:

Arms: Ermine, on a fesse azure a lion passant or. Crest: A lion passant langued gules resting the sinister paw on a trefoil.
(Arms: On an ermine spotted field a blue horizontal bar containing a gold walking lion. Crest: A red walking lion resting the left paw on a three leaved blade of grass.)

Arms: Argent, a saltire and a border gules a crescent for difference. (Arms: On a silver field a cross in the form of an "X" within a red border with a crescent.)

INTRODUCTION

This is the second of two lists of Garrett names I have put together for the purpose of uncovering previously unknown facts about our branch of GARRETTs. We all supposedly tie together somewhere in the long forgotten and unfortunately, poorly documented past. Even recent ancestors seem to pass from this earth without even grandsons/granddaughters knowing if their grandpa had brothers and sisters. What started out as an endeavor to discover Arthur B. Garrett's siblings led to an ever expanding adventure into the past. Any inaccuracies in the ancestral list may be corrected or enhanced by the addition of missing information by contacting me.*

Family Descendent List

This list contains all the names of parents and their children and is also broken into generations. In addition, it has all the addresses and phone numbers that I have been able to collect from other sources.

The names are listed from first born to last born to each parent. It is further organized by each person being assigned an individual number. The number is to the left of each child's name and is used to trace your TREE. This number is also under the name of the person as a parent. This way if you are curious about a person on the list just trace the number under their parent to that child number, then repeat this procedure until you get back to John R. Garrett.

If you want to add any information to the bank of information on file or you want to change/update information, use the form at the back of this booklet. You can just use the form as a guide to provide the desired facts if numerous inputs are submitted. My address is on the list, or just phone me. I would like to hear from you. There are forms in the back of the booklet to enter a family pedigree or your family group. Keep me updated,"please!!".
